Option StatusUser

Learn how to use the Option StatusUser config.txt directive to direct EZproxy to display the username associated with a login session on the Server Status page. Option StatusUser directs EZproxy to display the username associated with a login session on the Server Status page, making it easier to determine if the same username is being used by many users to gain access to your server.

Syntax

Option StatusUser

Examples

Display the username associated with a login session on the Server Status page:

Option StatusUser