Learn how to use the `Option StatusUser` directive to direct EZproxy to display the username associated with a login session on the Server Status page. `Option StatusUser` directs EZproxy to display the username associated with a login session on the Server Status page, making it easier to determine if the same username is being used by many users to gain access to your server.

Syntax

- `Option StatusUser`

Examples

Display the username associated with a login session on the Server Status page:

- `Option StatusUser`