Can I link from my website to individual FirstSearch databases?

Applies to

• FirstSearch

Answer

Yes. Using automatic logon, you can point users to appropriate resources by creating links to specific databases or other screens within FirstSearch. For example, you can create a WorldCat link that takes users to a search screen for the WorldCat database, or an Education link that takes them to a database selection screen for the education topic area.

For more information, please see IP Address Recognition.