Introduction

This release includes an update to the WorldCat Discovery service configuration modules that will save staff time so they can focus on users and not on waiting for configuration updates to display. When selecting “Save” in any WorldCat Discovery service configuration module, staff will see changes display in the WorldCat Discovery interface in real time.

Small improvements to the WorldCat Discovery interface were made to help users focus on small but important metadata elements. These changes will aid in understanding search results and help in making decisions about which resources they need. Updates were a result of user feedback received as part of focus groups and gathered from the Community Center.

We continue to correct small issues as we find them, and in this release have corrected the display of duplicate eLinks on Course Reserves, wrapping of full text excerpts on brief results, and more.

Recommended actions

For this release, we recommend that you review the following checklists and complete the relevant tasks so that you can adjust your policies and workflows and train your staff. These checklists identify updates that we have determined as significant for most institutions. We encourage you to review all of the items in the release notes to determine whether there are other items that might require additional action or follow up by your institution.

New features and enhancements

View service configuration updates in real time

We have minimized the amount of time librarians spend waiting for changes in service configuration settings to display in the WorldCat Discovery interface. Now, when librarians update or change settings in Service Configuration for most WorldCat Discovery modules, they can expect to see those changes immediately in the interface.

This improvement applies to the following WorldCat.org/config modules:

- WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat Local
- User Interface Options
- Relevancy and Scoping
- Place Hold/Request Buttons
- OPAC Statuses, Locations and Circulation Policies
- Holding Codes & Shelving Location Messages
- Local and Enhanced Content
- Full Text and Open Access Links
- ILS Support and Maintenance
- Google Analytics (WorldCat Discovery only)
- A – Z List and OCLC Link Resolver
- Search Box Generator
- Metasearch Content
  - Default Databases and Licensed Content

This improvement does not yet apply to the following modules. Changes made to this module may take 10 to 15 minutes to display in the WorldCat Discovery interface:

- WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat Local
  - Full Text OpenURL Resolvers (outgoing requests)

Improvements to the remaining WorldCat Discovery modules are planned for later this spring.

Display only HathiTrust Links leading to full text

We have added an additional rule to the service configuration setting WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat Local>Full Text and Open Access Links>WorldCat Local Search Results//WorldCat Discovery Search Results and Detailed Views>Links from Master WorldCat record 856 and 956 to open access content / free content>HathiTrust to ensure that only links leading to full text appear in WorldCat Discovery. In addition to already existing logic, WorldCat Discovery will also look at the following data points in the 856 fields:

- Indicator 1 must equal 4
- Indicator 2 must equal 0
- Subfield 3 must contain Full View
- Subfield u must contain a hathitrust.org URL

Display knowledge base Journal coverage metadata to show relationship between article citations Journal availability

We will now display journal coverage information on article citations for knowledge base links in WorldCat Discovery. This metadata will help inform users about other available content from a journal provider.
Interface improvements

We have made several small updates to the WorldCat Discovery interface based on user feedback. Label elements will now indicate the relationship between articles and journals, search results will clearly indicate when items are not held by a library or group, and pagination will be naturally centered on the search results page. These updates will improve users’ focus on metadata details and navigation through search results.

Updated label from source to journal on article citations to reflect connection between articles and journals

As an outcome of a recent usability study we have updated the “Source” label that appears on article citations. This change will better reflect what metadata appears in this field to help library users understand the connection between an article and a journal. Instead of seeing “Source” as the label for journal title information, users will now see “Journal” when viewing article citations.

Help users understand when materials are not locally held

A “Held by other libraries worldwide” statement will appear on items that do not belong to an individual library or a library’s group. As a result of a usability study in October 2018 it was found that this statement helps the library user to determine which items are available for borrowing immediately and which need to be requested via interlibrary loan.
Centering pagination on search results and updated icons

Pagination on brief results will now be centered. To match current web standards, the double chevrons (<< | >>) that display on each side of pagination on brief results will now display as single chevrons (< | >).
Bug fixes

Erroneous punctuation on author name corrected

WorldCat Discovery now correctly displays author names in all cases without inserting a period between first and last names. This issue affected a small set of author names.

Discovery API sortBy parameter fixed

Institutions with Discovery API access will now be able to correctly sort results by library_plus_relevance. For more information about APIs please refer to WorldCat Discovery API documentation.

Duplicate buttons display on Course Reserves

On a small number of Course Reserves, some users have reported duplicate eLink fulfillment buttons displaying and preventing availability from loading. This occurred when DOI is enabled but cannot return on specific citations. We have corrected the code to prevent duplicate links from displaying and allow availability to return when the DOI element is missing.
