Introduction

The following release notes are for the 9 May 2019 release of WorldCat Discovery. These notes also contain information regarding the 16 May 2019 release of WorldCat Discovery’s remote database recommendation feature.

WorldCat Discovery is bringing several new improvements to users in this release. When physical collections are housed in storage or if a library user is offsite, WorldCat Discovery now offers the ability to virtually browse the shelf.

In addition to virtual shelf browse, coming in a special release on 16 May 2019 a new database recommendation feature in WorldCat Discovery will give users a consistent way to search databases from EBSCO and ProQuest that are not included in the WorldCat Discovery central index.

Additionally, accessibility and UI improvements have been made in this release that help support users in their discovery experience.

Recommended actions

For this release, we recommend that you review the following checklist and complete the relevant tasks so that you can adjust your policies and workflows and train your staff. This checklist identifies updates that we have determined as significant for most institutions. We encourage you to review all of the items in the release notes to determine whether there are other items that might require additional action or follow up by your institution.

Administrative actions

These items require immediate action or decisions.

- WMS users: On or after 9 May 2019, enable Shelf Browse in the service configuration. Update: This feature has been installed enabled for all eligible users.
- Before 16 May 2019, Remote database users: Verify user name/password credentials for Remote Databases to ensure current configuration works as expected
- On or after 16 May 2019, Remote database users: Configure new proxy setting
New features and enhancements

Consistently search remote databases in WorldCat Discovery COMING 16 MAY 2019

On 16 May 2019, a new database recommendation feature in WorldCat Discovery will give users a consistent way to search databases from EBSCO and ProQuest that are not included in the WorldCat Discovery central index. Database recommendations will eliminate current remote search issues such as search timeouts or incomplete search results. The new feature will be available to libraries with WorldShare Management Services, WorldCat Discovery (premium), and WorldCat Local subscriptions, as well as to those libraries that purchased the former remote database search option. This will replace the remote database searching currently available in WorldCat Discovery. There will be a separate install from the regular 9 May 2019 WorldCat Discovery release for this functionality.

When remote databases are configured in the default database group the new experience will display recommended remote databases at the top of WorldCat Discovery search results with an indication of the approximate number of results expected from each. Clicking on a recommended database will connect a user to the database’s native interface to continue their research. For EBSCO databases, following this link will also automatically re-run the user’s search terms in the EBSCO interface.

Members of the WorldCat Discovery community provided extensive input on this new feature through focus groups, survey responses, and patron testing. These insights informed our development of an intuitive way to discover relevant resources in remote databases.

Read "Discovery Notes: Community-built database recommendations replace and improve remote searching" for background on the development of this new feature.

Below is an example of the user experience for the search “religion and culture.”

After users enter a search, WorldCat Discovery displays recommendations for remote databases configured by their library.
When users click a recommended database and authenticate, they are taken directly to the selected database in its native interface. The search is automatically re-run for EBSCO databases.

Configuration considerations for use of the new feature
• Existing remote database configurations for remote searching will remain active when the database recommendation feature is released.

• If you previously removed remote databases from your library’s default database list, you may wish to include them again, because searching these databases will no longer impact the timing or completeness of search results. We recommend including a maximum of ten remote databases in a library’s default setting.

• A new proxy configuration will be required to build the database recommendation links to EBSCO and ProQuest. The new configuration will automatically populate with your library’s existing proxy from the WorldCat knowledge base in WorldShare Collection Manager. If your institution does not have a proxy in this location and you wish to provide the new recommendation tool, you will need to configure a proxy Base URL in the MetaSearch module of OCLC Service Configuration before using remote database recommendations.

• We strongly recommend that you review your library’s credentials for remote database access in OCLC Service Configuration to make sure they are up to date. These credentials are provided by content providers for access to their content. This will ensure trouble-free connections for your users.

Virtually shelf browse collections when offsite

As interaction with libraries increasingly occur on electronic devices and as physical collections move offsite, WorldCat Discovery now offers for WMS institutions, a way to provide users an organic discovery experience of virtual shelf browse. This feature will be configurable in worldcat.org/config>WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat Local>User Interface Options>Display shelf browse on detailed records. This features was installed enabled for all eligible users.
When enabled, a “Browse the Shelf” accordion will display on detailed views of records for physical items that your library holds. Shelf Browse will then display the title, author, format, publication year and LHR provided Call Number.

If you have configured any of the following to display on brief results, they will also display on Shelf Browse.

- Availability configured to display on brief results in worldcat.org/config>WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat Local>OPAC Statuses, Locations and Circulation Policies.
- Primary links configured to display on brief results in worldcat.org/config>WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat Local>Full Text and Open Access Links
- StackMap configured in worldcat.org/config>Third-Party Integrations>StackMap
Quickly view selected databases first in Metasearch Content module

When you need to update databases in OCLC Service Configuration, you will now view selected databases first without needing to scroll through all options available. This is especially useful when editing custom groups. Selected databases will display alphanumerically in each of the following sections:

Configure Databases to Search

- OCLC Licensed Databases
- Central Index Databases
- Remote Databases

Group Configured Databases

- Custom Database Groups
Periodical Index and Supplement subfields in local holdings metadata will now display in WorldCat Discovery

In order to provide end users with more information when local holdings for a periodical containing supplementary or index items, WorldCat Discovery will now display the following fields with other Local Holding Record content.

- 867 subfield a
- 868 subfield a

Reduced alert notifications when using JAWS screen reader

When using a screen reader (JAWS) to enter a search on the Discovery homepage, predictive text alerts were repeated to the point of distracting the user. Now the alert rate has been reduced to notify users when search suggestions.

Bug Fixes

Season codes will now translate

When searching WorldCat Discovery and viewing a local holding records that was created with a season code in the 863 $j, users will now see the code translate into the appropriate translation of that season in all supported languages.
Local Holding Records will no longer display duplicate lines of availability when textual holding pairs are used

When textual holdings are used in conjunction with the following fields, WorldCat Discovery will no longer display duplicate line of availability.

- 866/876
- 867/877
- 868/878
- 865/878

Example of 867/877 textual holding pair in WorldShare Record Manager:
Example of 867/877 textual holding pair display in WorldCat Discovery
Private notes no longer display in detailed views of WorldCat Discovery

WorldCat Discovery users that have included private notes in Local Bibliographic Data the 590 field that contains a first indicator value of 0 for private will no longer see the metadata display in WorldCat Discovery. These private notes will only be viewable within WorldShare Record Manager.

New content

This is a list of new databases added to WorldCat Discovery, WorldCat Local and WorldCat.org since our last update.

You can enable these databases as search options in the Licensed Content and Databases module of the OCLC Service Configuration site. Please remember that your library must have a valid subscription to these databases in order to enable them.
Available in WorldCat Discovery, WorldCat Local and WorldCat.org

Include Request ID with problem reports

When reporting an issue with WorldCat Discovery, it is extremely helpful to include the Request ID. The Request ID is found at the bottom of the screen on which the issue occurred. Including this information allows us to directly trace what happened on the request we are troubleshooting.
