Release Date: July 8, 2019

Introduction

Continuing our commitment to privilege quality open content, we have worked to carefully expand rules that surface links to Canadian government and educational resources in WorldCat Discovery. Users will also see improvements to Google Analytics event tracking, and usability updates for people who use screen readers to navigate the WorldCat Discovery interface.

Include Request ID with problem reports

When reporting an issue with WorldCat Discovery, it is extremely helpful to include the Request ID. The Request ID is found at the bottom of the screen on which the issue occurred. Including this information allows us to directly trace what happened on the request we are troubleshooting.

New features and enhancements

Expanded access to content from Canadian government and education domains

With the guidance of members from Library and Archives Canada and University of New Brunswick, we are excited to expand coverage for government and educational open access content when enabling 856 links from WorldCat. When the setting in Full Text and Open Access Links > WorldCat Local Search Results/WorldCat Discovery Search results > Links from Master WorldCat record 856 and 956 to open access content / free content>Government and Educational Documents is enabled, it will now include the following Canadian domains/URLs:

https://help.oclc.org/Discovery_and_Reference/WorldCat_Discovery/Release_notes/2019_Release_Notes/070Wo...
These URLs will continue to appear in WorldCat Discovery as they have always with 856 fields that have indicator 40 informing availability link displays, and 856 field indicator values 41 or 42 to inform description displays.

Text in the service configuration for this setting will also be updated to reflect the broader coverage of this setting. The setting text changes are outlined below:
Improved quality of knowledge base provider links

To ensure better link quality, when a WorldCat Discovery citation contains the MARC field 022 subfield y for an incorrect ISSN, WorldCat Discovery will not send it to the knowledge base as part of the metadata used to build provider links.
Refinement of Google Analytics tracking so Unpaywall API calls are no longer tracked in statistics

Users who have enabled integration of Google Analytics with their WorldCat Discovery will no longer see Unpaywall API calls tracked as a user-triggered change event. Before this fix, users who had enabled Google Analytics saw confusing statistics for unusually high numbers of Unpaywall API calls tracked as a user-triggered change event. This was due to the design of the statistic which was triggered for all search results that contained a DOI.

Improved description for required search box actions for users of screen readers such as NVDA or JAWS

The WorldCat Discovery home page, search results page, and detailed results pages, have been updated for improved access by users of screen readers such as NVDA or JAWS. We have updated the search box Aria label to provide a better explanation of what type of action is expected within the search box. While screen reading will vary depending on the system used, all will read “Enter search query” when focus is on the search box.

Shelf Browse text update in Service Configuration

The OCLC Service Configuration section worldcat.org/config > OPAC Statuses, Locations and Circulations policies, text in the Item Availability on Search Results > WorldCat Discovery Only will be updated to indicate that shelf browse will use these settings.
Display Item Availability on search results, course reserves and browse the shelf (for WMS only)

Bug fixes

Selecting a title in brief results with a linked 880 field will open on detail pane

Users who select a title that contains a linked 880 field will now see the title open on the detail pane, rather than the detail page. Prior to this release, records with linked 880 fields opened on the detail pane.
Open Access filter will always display when scoped to Level 1 holdings

When changing the scope options on Advanced search or in brief results, users will always see the Open Access filter appear when applicable. This fix resolves an issue some institutions encountered where the filter incorrectly disappeared when scoping search results from libraries worldwide to a branch of the primary holding institution.

Database filters will work correctly on brief results

Database filters will now properly scope search results to a selected database. Previously, selecting the database filter did not properly update results.

Service configuration label update

In Service Configuration, the “Link or Button Label” text in the Full Text OpenURL Resolvers (outgoing requests) area has been changed to “Link Label.” In WorldCat Discovery, this feature will display as a link. This update will alleviate confusion about configuration options available for third party OpenURL resolvers.

Fix to WorldShare ILL form when WorldCat is the default database configured

Institutions who subscribe to WorldShare ILL and WorldCat Discovery that have configured WorldCat as their default database for WorldCat Discovery searching will now be able to place holds on citations from configured databases other than WorldCat. Previously, users were unsuccessful when submitting the WorldShare ILL request form.

Update

End of remote database searching in WorldCat Local Remote database searching in WorldCat Local is scheduled to end on July 15, 2019. If your library still provides searching of remote databases in WorldCat Local, you can continue to provide access to both centrally-indexed and remote databases through the WorldCat Discovery service after July 15.

This is the final change planned for WorldCat Local before access to the service ends on August 9, 2019. As previously announced, August 9 is when WorldCat Local access ends for libraries that use WorldCat Local as a standalone discovery service or as the user interface for WMS. On that date, all existing WorldCat Local URLs will be redirected to appropriate pages on WorldCat Discovery.

WorldCat Discovery gives your users a more consistent way to access databases not included in the WorldCat Discovery central index using a new database recommendation feature. In addition, WorldCat Discovery delivers a wide range of features not available in WorldCat Local, and it is regularly enhanced with new functionality. WorldCat Discovery provides an interface that automatically adapts to their preferred devices.

The WorldCat Discovery Support website provides documentation and training resources to support configuration and use of WorldCat Discovery. Step-by-step guidance for your transition is provided at https://oclc/localtransition. For additional assistance from a knowledgeable WorldCat Discovery Implementation Manager, plan to attend WorldCat Local to WorldCat Discovery transition office hours.

If you have specific questions about your library’s WorldCat Discovery implementation, please contact OCLC Support in your region.

New content

This is a list of new databases added to WorldCat Discovery, WorldCat Local and WorldCat.org since our last update.

You can enable these databases as search options in the Licensed Content and Databases module of the OCLC Service Configuration site. Please remember that your library must have a valid subscription to these databases in order to enable them.

The complete list of databases is available at contentlisttargetID.xlsx.

The Gunsho Ruiju series is a major collection of manuscripts from ancient through to the end of the early modern periods compiled under categories covering history, literature, religion, language, customs, art, music, cultivated arts, education, morality, legal codes, politics, economy, society and many other subjects.
The Bijutsu Shinpo, published for nineteen years between 1902 (Meiji 35) and 1920 (Taisho 9), is an indispensable periodical resource full of information for anyone interested in modern Japanese art and modern culture in general. The articles focus not only on Japan at the time, but painting, sculpture, crafts and calligraphy from the ancient to contemporary periods of the East and West.

Toyo Keizai Shinpo / Weekly Toyo Keizai was inaugurated in Meiji 28 (1895), when Japan’s economic modernization began activities that would send ripples through history. At the time, there was great anticipation for a business and financial magazine that would monitor the government, advise businesspersons, and inform readers about the world economy.

“Kobunso Taika Koshomoku” is a set of antiquarian books catalogs sent to customers by Shigeo Sorimachi, who founded the vintage bookstore “Kobunso” in 1932. All pages of the 77 volumes of Kobunso’s catalogs of holdings, the bulk of which come from the Kobunso Taika Koshomoku, are now being digitalized.

Jinbutsu Sosho is a monumental collection of biographies of historical figures in Japan edited by the Nihon Rekishi Gakkai (The Society of Japanese history). It is a book series of biographies of persons deemed important in Japanese history, including non-Japanese persons, from ancient to contemporary times, covering diverse areas such as politics, economics, literature, religion and arts.
