Introduction

This release of WorldCat Discovery provides two new features and enhancements in addition to numerous bug fixes. These features will help you manage more complex workflows, including:

- Integration of LibKey Discovery (BrowZine) with the OCLC Incoming Link Resolver
- Updated citation styles
- Correct display of custom translations

Many of these enhancements are the direct result of your feedback.

Recommended actions

For this release, we recommend that you review the following checklists and complete the relevant tasks so that you can adjust your policies and workflows and train your staff. These checklists identify updates that we have determined as significant for most institutions. We encourage you to review all of the items in the release notes to determine whether there are other items that might require additional action or follow up by your institution.

New features and enhancements
LibKey Discovery integrated with incoming OCLC Link Resolver

When users navigate to your WorldCat Discovery A to Z list from Google Scholar or any third-party database using OCLC's link resolver, they will now see their LibKey Discovery integration display when the integration returns links to View PDF and "Explore articles..." from the issue containing the article or the most recent issue of the journal.

Prior to this release only searches that began on the A to Z platform would correctly display the LibKey Discovery integration. For more information on how to configure this integration please refer to documentation found here.

Updated citation styles

This release will include updated style manuals to ensure users are creating the best citations possible. The table below lists the style manual updates:

Bug fixes

Custom translations will display properly

After this release the following custom translations available within Service Configuration for WorldCat Discovery will display properly in the WorldCat Discovery user interfaces. Prior to this release, custom translations could be configured in Service Configuration, but would not display in the WorldCat Discovery interface.

Note: If your institution is not configured to have a Level 2 or Level 3 Group, you will not see this section in your Place Hold/Request section.
Check Holdings functionality for Libraries Worldwide display corrected

When a user has configured local holdings to display without availability in the Libraries Worldwide section of WorldCat Discovery item detail views, they should now see the shelving location and call number display properly. To enable or disable this functionality users can navigate to [OCLC Service Configuration > WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat Local > Local and Enhanced Content] > Enable display of LHR Location and Call Number (without availability). Users will see the Check Holdings button display when a bibliographic level hold is present.

Note: When there is no local holding record associated with the bibliographic holding nothing will display upon click of Check Holdings. We are working on a future enhancement to improve this experience.
New content

This is a list of new databases added to WorldCat Discovery and WorldCat.org since our last update.

You can enable these databases as search options in the Licensed Content and Databases module of the OCLC
Service Configuration site. Please remember that your library must have a valid subscription to these databases in order to enable them.

Include Request ID with problem reports

When reporting an issue with WorldCat Discovery, it is extremely helpful to include the Request ID. The Request ID is found at the bottom of the screen on which the issue occurred. Including this information allows us to directly trace what happened on the request we are troubleshooting.
