Holdings not set on master record error

Last updated: Tue, 23 Mar 2021 20:15:21 GMT

Symptom

• You get the error message "Holdings not set on master record" while working in Connexion client.

Applies to

• Connexion client

Resolution

If you receive this error while performing a batch delete in Connexion client it means that the holding on the referenced OCN has already been deleted by someone else in the past. If you find a bunch of them it may be that someone has already done the task you are doing; otherwise, someone caught just one earlier than you.

If you are getting this error in another area, please contact OCLC Support with your library symbol, the OCN that produced the error and the steps you were taking before you got the error message.
