I found an incorrect OCLC number in a knowledge base collection, but I don't have a correct OCLC number with which to replace it

Symptom

- You have identified an incorrect OCLC number on a knowledge base record, but there is no correct WorldCat record that would serve as a suitable correction or replacement

Applies to

- WorldShare Collection Manager

Resolution

In order for the OCLC knowledge base team to remove an errant OCLC number, there must be a replacement record to which the knowledge base title can be attached. Without this existing record, the change cannot be made.

To correct this issue, a new WorldCat record will need to be created. Once created, the new, correct OCLC number can be used to correct the title in the knowledge base collection.

Additional information

Create WorldCat bibliographic records

Report errant OCLC numbers

Page ID

45839